

Joining Flickr

Flickr is a photo sharing website. The photography group at the Library has organized a group for members to post and share their photos. Here's how to join:

1. Sign up for a Yahoo! account (if you don't already have one). Flickr is owned by Yahoo!
2. Sign up for a Flickr account. This will be individual to you. From there, you can share your photos with the group.
3. Join the Fourth Tuesday Photography group.

Each of the above steps is detailed below:

Step 1: Sign up for a Yahoo! account (skip this step if you already have one)

If you begin from the Flickr URL, you can directly enter the Flickr set up.

Type www.flickr.com into your browser address bar and press "enter". The screen will look something like this:

Complete the form.

You do not need to give your actual information, but do record the information you have given in case you forget your password.

Yahoo! will suggest an ID for you, one that's not already chosen, or you can suggest your own.

Your password needs to be at least 6 characters and ideally a mix of upper and lower case and special characters, but no spaces.

Deciphering the code can be challenging. Click on Try a new code if the current one is indecipherable to you.

Click in the box beside Do you agree?

Click on Create My Account

This screen congratulates you on signing up.

One caution: after helping many people sign up for Yahoo! Accounts, sometimes the password doesn't "take" and needs to be reentered and tried again.

Print this page and write your password on it and put it in a safe, easily remembered place.

Click on Edit Marketing Preferences

Unless you like receiving e-mail offers, click on Clear All

Then click Save Changes

Step 1: Sign up for a Flickr account (skip this step if you already have one)

Return to the Flickr homepage. Click on Create Your Account

If you haven't logged off your computer, Flickr will recognize your sign-in, and ask for you to type in your password.

After entering your password, click Sign in

Type in your Flickr screen name. This name will be viewed by anyone looking at your photos. If your name is not unique, you'll be prompted to try a different name.

Click on Create a New Account

The welcome screen is displayed. It gives you the 3 steps to get started.

Click on Personalize your profile

Personalizing your profile is optional. Some recommend at least setting your time zone in #3.

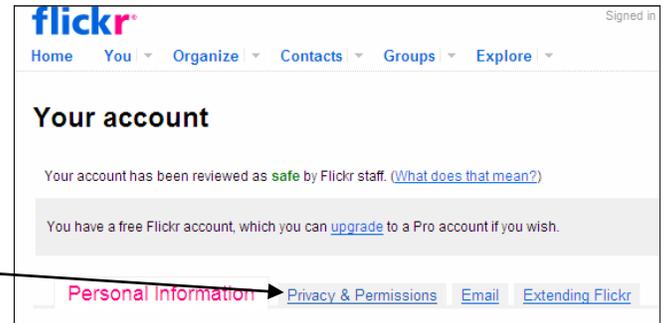

1. Create your buddy icon. Click on this if you want to create a personal icon. This should be a small, uncomplicated image, uploaded from a file on your computer.
2. Choose your custom Flickr URL. Click on this if you want to give a URL (web address) to others. This will take them directly to your pictures (great for sharing with family/friends). It will be something like: <http://www.flickr.com/photos/xxxxx>, with "xxxxx" being your personal identifier. You cannot change this identifier once it is set.
3. Personalize your profile. Click on this to give your name, if you wish, and to set your time zone.

You can set privacy setting by clicking on You, then on Your Account.

When your account comes up, click on Privacy & Permissions.

The "Your account" screen is divided into "Global settings", "Defaults for new uploads", and "Content filters".

Under "Global settings", no changes are required, but in order for sharing of photos to happen, please select No for Hide your stuff from public searches

Under Who can see what on your profile, leave your email address as seeable by Your contacts

Under "Defaults for new uploads" we recommend that Who will be able to see, comment on, or add notes is changed to Your contacts only. Click on edit and change Comment on to Your contacts.

Under "Content filter" no changes are needed.

Click Home to continue.

You're now ready to click on Upload Photos & Video

Six photos may be located and uploaded at one time. For each photo, click the Browse button and find one photo you would like to upload. The Browse feature allows you to search your documents for your pictures. When you have selected up to six photos, you may give them a tag if they belong in a logical grouping of photos (e.g. vacation, holiday photos, etc.). Click on UPLOAD.

When the photos have uploaded, they will be visible and ready for you to title, describe, tag, add to or create a new set, if you wish.

Click on SAVE when you've finished with your descriptions.

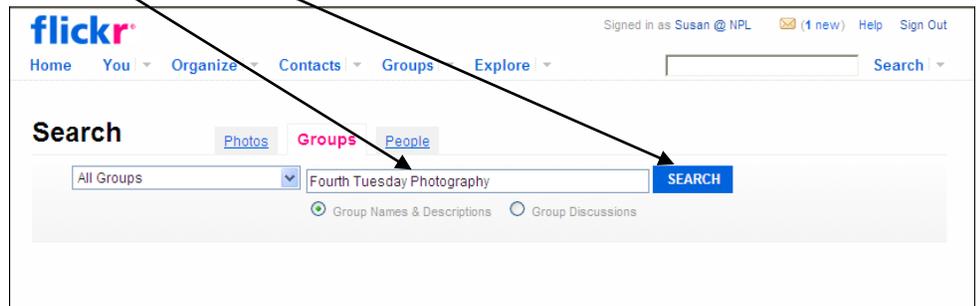

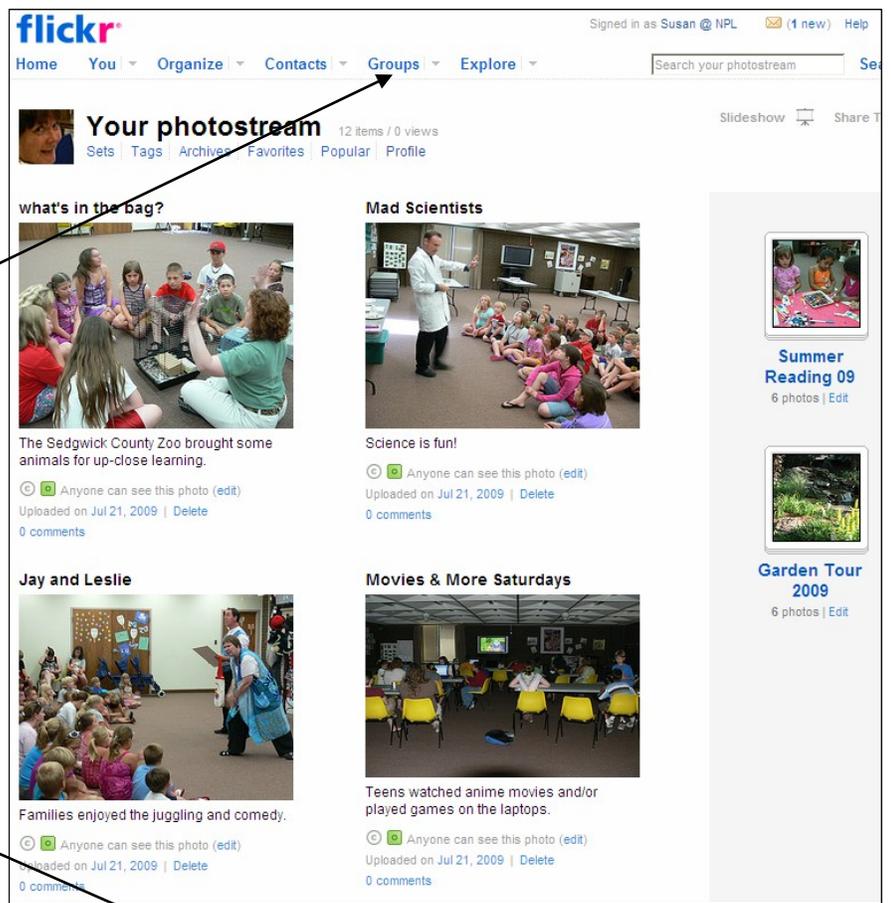

You now may view your photos. To the right are the sets you've created.

Photos you want to share with Fourth Tuesday Photography will come from these pictures in your photostream.

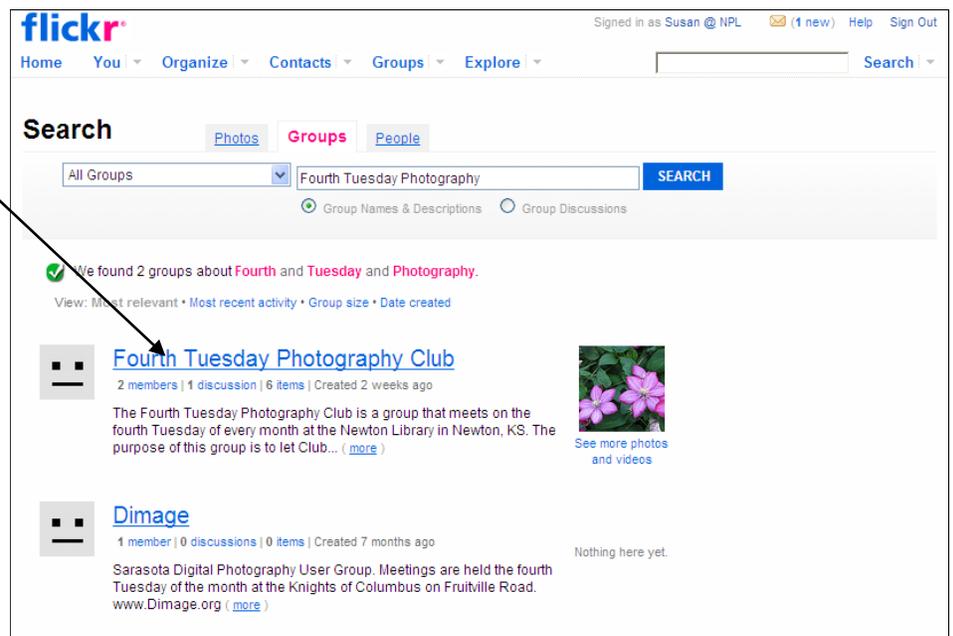

To share these with the Photography group, the next process is to join the Fourth Tuesday Photography Group.

Click on Groups

Type in "Fourth Tuesday Photography" and click SEARCH.

Click on our group!

Click on Join This Group or Join?

The screenshot shows the Flickr group page for "Fourth Tuesday Photography Club". At the top, there are navigation links: Home, You, Organize, Contacts, Groups, and Explore. A search bar is present with the text "Search this group's pool" and a "Search" button. Below the group name, there are links for "Group Pool", "Discussion", "2 Members", "Map", and "Join This Group". The "Group Pool" section shows 6 photos, each with a "From Susan@NPL" caption. Below the photos is a "Discussion" section with 1 post, titled "Welcome to Fourth Tuesday Photography Club" by user "jheidel", with 0 replies and posted 2 weeks ago. There is a "Search discussions" box and a "SEARCH" button. At the bottom, there is an "About Fourth Tuesday Photography Club" section and an "Additional Information" section which states "This is a public group" and lists accepted media types (Photos).

Click again on JOIN THIS GROUP

The screenshot shows a confirmation dialog for joining the group. It says "Join Fourth Tuesday Photography Club" and asks "Do you really want to join the group 'Fourth Tuesday Photography Club'?". There are two buttons: "JOIN THIS GROUP" and "NO THANKS".

At this point we haven't limited our membership, so this screen brings you to our group.

Click on Add photos to share your photos with the group

Click on Post a new topic if you wish to begin a new discussion.

Read a message by clicking on the link. You can post a reply after reading the message.

Click on any photo for a better view and to comment.

The screenshot shows the Flickr group page for "Fourth Tuesday Photography Club" after the user has joined. The group now has 3 members. The "Group Pool" section shows 10 photos, with the first two from "Susan@NPL" and the others from "jheidel". Below the photos is a "Discussion" section with 1 post, titled "Welcome to Fourth Tuesday Photography Club" by user "jheidel", with 0 replies and posted 2 weeks ago. There is a "Search discussions" box and a "SEARCH" button. At the bottom, there is an "About Fourth Tuesday Photography Club" section and an "Additional Information" section which states "This is a public group" and lists accepted media types (Photos, Screenshots, Illustration/Art) and accepted safety levels (Safe).

Type a comment, if you wish.
Then click on POST A COMMENT

The screenshot shows the Flickr interface for a photo titled "1stMeeting 004". The photo is a close-up of a vibrant orange zinnia flower. The page is signed in as "Susan @ NPL". The navigation bar includes "Home", "You", "Organize", "Contacts", "Groups", and "Explore". A search bar is visible in the top right. Below the photo, there are options to "ADD TO FAVES", "ADD NOTE", "BLOG THIS", and "ALL SIZES". A "Share This" link is also present. The photo was uploaded on July 6, 2009, by user "jheidel". It is part of a "Fourth Tuesday Photography Club (Pool)" group, where the user is the first to post. The photo belongs to a set named "First Meeting (Set)". The "Additional Information" section shows that all rights are reserved and the photo is public. It was taken with a Nikon D50 on June 23, 2009, and has been viewed once. A comment input area is visible, containing the text: "This is a gorgeous photo! Very crisp, good color contrast, nice composition." Below the input area is a link for "How do I format my comment?". At the bottom of the comment area are two buttons: "PREVIEW" and "POST COMMENT", separated by the word "OR".

After posting, you will see your comment. Others now have a chance to reply, if they wish.

This screenshot shows the same Flickr photo page as above, but with the comment posted. The comment input area now contains a "Comments" section. The comment is from "Susan @ NPL" and reads: "This is a gorgeous photo! Very crisp, good color contrast, nice composition." Below the comment text are links for "permalink", "delete", and "edit". The "Add your comment" input area is now empty. The rest of the page, including the photo, navigation, and metadata, remains the same as in the previous screenshot.

See you on Flickr!
